The poem Night of the Scorpion is written by Nissim Ezekiel. The poem is based on the motherly affection on her children.

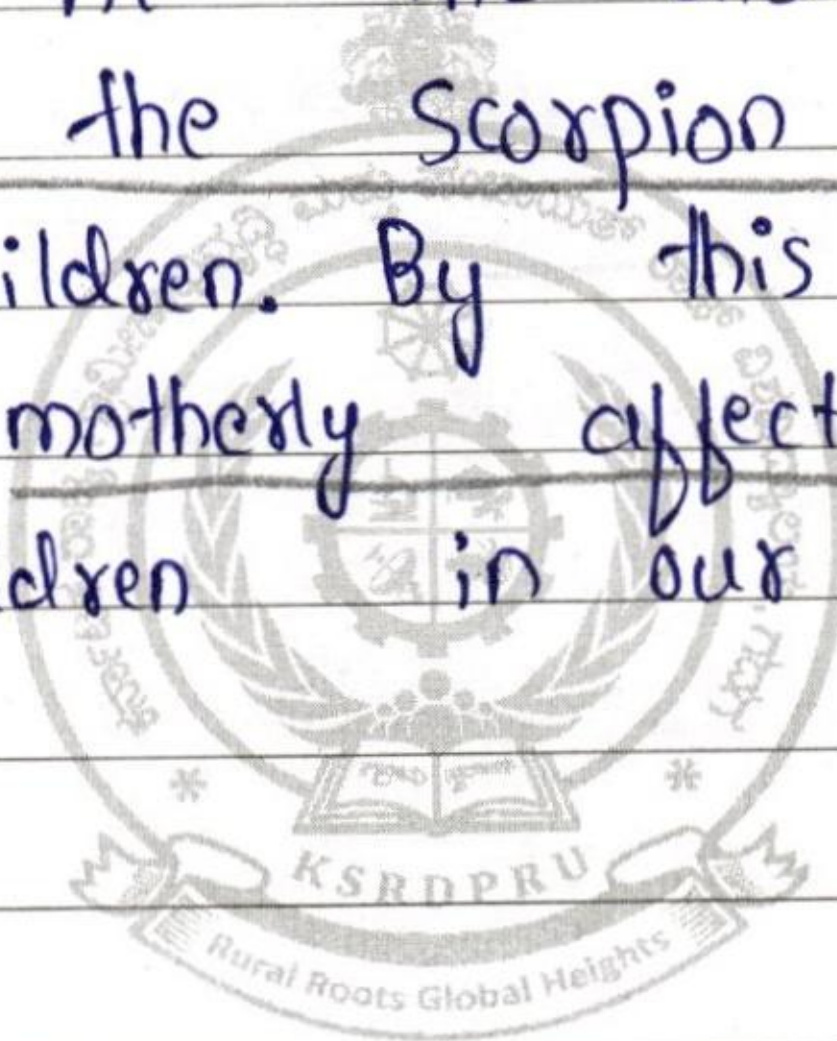

In the poem the mother was stung by an scorpion at the time of night. And it was raining too heavily at night time. The scorpion was hidden at the beneath of the sack of rice.

The neighbours came to search for the scorpion. The neighbours came to her house like bees and flies. They started to pray for her saying may your pain cure away, may your previous sins flesh away by your pain. And may god forbid your sins. But refused to help her curing her pain.

The mother of poet groaned groaned on the mat. The pandit was doing his mantra and other things to cure the poison of that lady.

Poet's father also tried too
By applying many remedies on the foot and also poured little paraffin on the foot and put an match stick fire on her foot. At the end After 20 hours of continuous trying the pain
was gone or the poison flesh away from her body.

At the end She said that thank god the Scorpion stung me and not my children. By this the poems tells us the motherly affection of her love to her children in our life.
